Grand Duchess Olga, daughter of the Czar of Russia

Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia

Crown Prince George of Greece

Princess Elizabeth of Roumania

Grand Duchess Tatiana, daughter of the Czar of Russia

Crown Prince Charles of Roumania

IT HAS been announced in diplomatic circles, that a future alliance of the Balkan peoples, who have been at war for the past year and at odds for many years in the past, is to be cemented by the marriages of Crown Prince George of Greece to the Princess Elizabeth of Roumania; and of the Crown Princes of Serbia and Roumania to Olga and Tatiana, the daughters of the Czar. These inter-marriages, it is hoped, will help end the bitterness between the nations. The Karageorgevitch family of Serbia is not related to big European royalties, but it is looking for a rise in the world. Montenegro got one when Helenea married Victor Emanuel of Italy. Her sisters and cousins will not envy the Russian Grand Duchess who is assigned to Belgrade.
