

RELIGION

Stars in the Pulpit

Criticizing Jane Russell (l.) and other stars who make personal appearances at evangelical meetings, the Rev. William Dalman told the International Council of Christian Churches, meeting in Scotland: "She is known in every country because in most of her pictures she wears as few pieces of clothing as the law permits." Answered Miss Russell: "I know my Bible. People who are objecting to my religious work are getting dangerously close to hurling the first stone."

Quick

August 11, 1952

p. 24