

MADAME PAQUIN

PICKS A. S. C. COLORS

Steel Gray and Marine Blue Selection of Paris Modiste

It took Madame Paquin herself to choose and match up the distinctive colors of the new Army Service Corps, which, being the last big Army department organized, found that the rainbow had been pretty well riddled of available shades by the other branches, which picked their colors months ago.

The A. S. C. major with the color picking job on his hands had an inspiration. Service colors being necessary mostly for piping on officers' overseas caps, and Madame Paquin knowing quite a little about millinery in general—why not let the famous Paris modiste solve the problem in color harmony?

As for Madame Paquin, she considered herself honored at being able to serve the American Army. So, after much matching of ribbons and laying of colors on olive drab cloth, Madame Paquin decided that steel gray and marine blue would be just about right. Her selection is now official.
