

The Masses

August 17, 1917

page 9

To-night will be Army and Navy night. Any man who will sign a pledge at a desk inside the tent of the Alley Theatre to go to a recruiting office and make a sincere effort to enlist in the army, navy, or marine corps, will be formally kissed by one of "a number of society girls," whose names are being withheld. Additional police protection will be provided to keep the waiting crowds from breaking out of line.

—New York Times.