

LAS VEGAS GETS AN INTER-RACIAL HOTEL

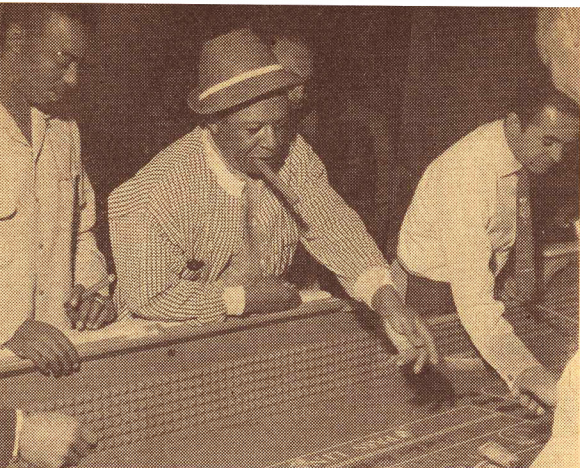

Snake eyes turned up for Jim Crow in Las Vegas when the Moulin Rouge recently opened its doors. It is the gambling center's first non-segregated hotel, has Joe Louis as host and co-owner.

Costing $3 million, the luxurious desert resort boasts a cocktail lounge, swimming pool and gambling casino. Leading show personalities gathered for the opening (opp.), including Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, Rosemary Clooney, Lili St. Cyr, many others, to try their luck and see the Tropi Can-Can show. Afterward the waiters welcomed a break in the huge theater-restaurant as non-segregated dice rolled at Las Vegas.

ROCHESTER REGISTERS AT OPENING OF NON-SEGREGATED RESORT

People of all races have equal opportunity to lose or win a bankroll.

Joe Louis: "This isn't an opening of a Las Vegas hotel. It's history."

The entrance to the inter-racial resort indicates its plushy atmosphere.

People
 July 27, 1955 Today
 p. 43

OldMagazineArticles.com