

Delineator

VOLUME 123, NUMBER 1,
JULY, 1933

PAGE 52

LINEN AND COTTON FIRST

by MARIAN COREY

The plaid gingham blouse—This photograph, taken at Palm Beach last winter, shows Miss Eleanor Barry, of Orange, N. J., wearing a plaid gingham blouse with dark slacks and an Ascot scarf. Mr. William Rhinelander Stewart is in the photograph with Miss Barry

The plaid organdy evening dress—as Miss Charlotte Stockton of Princeton, New Jersey, wore it last spring at Castle Harbour. The dress has the new heart-shaped décolletage, and a wing ruffle for sleeves. Miss Stockton wore it with a tailored dark velvet belt

The white piqué jacket—At Palm Beach last winter Miss Antoinette Johnson wore this white cotton jacket over dark slacks and a dark shirt. Note the cross-buttoning which is now. Such a jacket can be worn with sports clothes, daytime dresses, evening gowns

The candy-stripe beach dress—Miss Elizabeth Chew was photographed wearing this dress over her bathing suit in lieu of the usual pyjamas. The dress is wrap-around and has the new halter neckline, sun-back and bare shoulders. Photographed at Castle Harbour