

HOLLYWOOD

BUT WHERE'S THAT MOVIE?

JANE RUSSELL'S PUBLICITY POURS IN BUT HER ONE MOVIE HAS NEVER BEEN RELEASED

WITH a perfectly straight face, Publicist Russell Birdwell continues to announce periodically that Jane Russell's first motion picture, "The Outlaw," is about to be released. Produced and directed by Howard Hughes, discoverer of Jean Harlow, it's announced that the film will also feature another youthful Hughes discovery, Jack Buetel. Anybody seen anything of Jack Buetel?

PAGE 23

OldMagazineArticles.com

JANE'S AT HOME IN TOP HAT, TUX COAT AND CANE. AS AN AIR-RAID WARDEN, SHE BRIGHTENS BLACKOUTS.

JANE POSES AS SHARPSHOOTER. THE DUCK'S DECOY. "THIS'LL MAKE YOU WHISTLE," JANE ILLUSTRATES.

OldMagazineArticles.com

Glamour poses like this have made Jane Russell the most celebrated pictureless picture star.

"PIC"

February 16, 1923

p. 25

OldMagazineArticles.com